NEXT · FROM BRAIN TO CHIEF OF STAFF

Build your AI chief of staff

A coaching partner that knows how you lead, and is ready when you are

Bracco Sales Leadership · AI Working Session

THE MINDSET

Hire it the way you'd hire a person

Step	Hiring a person	Building your agent
Define the role	Job description	Agent spec
Onboard	Your expectations, your team, how you work	Your Operating Manual and Bracco's PAUSE model
Set boundaries	What they decide, what comes to you	What it never does, when it hands back
First 90 days	Feedback and course correction	Test, refine the instructions, test again

You wouldn't hire without a job description. Don't build an agent without a spec.

BUILT ON HOW BRACCO ALREADY COACHES

Your chief of staff runs on PAUSE

P

Prepare

Copilot: prep guide from the last FCR and agreed action

You: choose what to observe

A

Affirm

Copilot: finds strengths in your notes, with evidence

You: open with them, in person

U

Understand

Copilot: separates fact from assumption, drafts self-assessment questions

You: ask, and listen

S

Specify

Copilot: behavior-based feedback, coaching not managing

You: agree one or two changes

E

Embed

Copilot: FCR draft and a 30-day embed plan

You: validate, submit, follow up

The rule from the field: AI helps you turn your evidence into clearer coaching. It never writes the report for you.

PROMPT PACK 2 · PROMPTS 1 TO 8

Eight prompts across five moments in your field day

Before the field day

1 Prepare for the field day
A one-page PAUSE prep guide: what to observe, questions to ask, evidence to capture

OBSERVE
During the field day

No prompt. You observe.
Capture what was said or done, when, the customer response and the impact. Don't ask AI to fill gaps.

UNDERSTAND
After each call

2 Observation vs assumption
Sorts your notes into observed, assumed and facts to verify

3 Self-assessment questions
Six open questions that help the rep diagnose it themselves

AFFIRM · SPECIFY
The conversation

4 Behavior-based feedback
Observation, impact, strength, opportunity, question, future behavior

5 Coaching vs managing
Labels your statements and rewrites the managing ones

EMBED
FCR and follow-up

6 Draft the FCR
From validated notes only. Gaps flagged, never filled

7 Improve my FCR
Reviews your own draft against the standards

8 30-day embed plan
One behavior, two practice chances, a dated checkpoint

Every prompt: Role + Context + Observation + Task + Format and tone + Guardrails · Task is CRAFT's Action. Your agent or notebook carries the overarching role.

THE WORKFLOW · NOTEBOOK OR AGENT

How your chief of staff works

WHAT IT READS

- AI Operating Manual · your voice and standards
- PAUSE slides · what good looks like
- Field Coaching Playbook · five moments, Prompts 1 to 8
- Coaching log · each rep's history

1 Start a session
One chat per rep per field cycle

→

2 Interview once
Up to five questions. Attach notes and the last FCR. Confirm the playback

→

3 Find your moment
Reads what you say and bring. Confirms in one line, or asks once

→

4 Run the prompt
Role, context, observation, task, format and tone, guardrails

→

5 Check
Spec check on every prompt. Source check when it uses your notes or files

→

6 You decide
Review, edit, coach in person, submit the FCR

[icon: ArrowCounterClockwise]

Next stage, same chat: after your calls and after the coaching conversation, come back to the session and go straight to step 3. No new interview.

STEP 3 · FIND YOUR MOMENT

It reads the signals, confirms, or asks once

YOU NAME IT

“Run Prompt 6.”

It runs the prompt, after its prerequisites.

IT READS THE SIGNALS

What you say, what you attach, what’s already done in this chat. Then it confirms:

“Sounds like you’ve just finished a call. I’ll run Prompt 2 to sort your notes. OK?”

IT CAN’T TELL, SO IT ASKS

“Where are you in your field day?”

Before it · During it · Just out of a call · Around the coaching conversation · Writing the FCR or follow-up

Signal	Moment	Prompt
“Tomorrow,” a call plan	Before the field day	1
Raw notes from a call	After each call	2, then 3
“How do I say this?”	The conversation	4, then 5
“We just talked,” “draft my FCR” · your own draft · an agreed action	FCR and follow-up	6 · 7 · 8

TWO ROUTES, ONE WORKFLOW

Build it as a notebook or an agent

ROUTE 1 · 10 MINUTES

Coaching notebook

The quick start. Four files in one place, and instructions that run the workflow. Nothing to configure.

Best for: getting started today, and seeing patterns across your reps.

ROUTE 2 · 30 MINUTES

Coaching agent

The full build. The same workflow written into a spec, with one-click starter prompts for each play.

Best for: doing the same coaching work, your way, every time.

Same workflow, same four files: your AI Operating Manual, the PAUSE slides, the Field Coaching Playbook and your coaching log.

4

More options (···) › Instructions. Paste Setup 2, Notebook Instructions, and save.

5

"Start a coaching session for my field day with [initials]."

6
Keep it private
Don't share it. Anyone you invite gets full editing access, coaching log included.

ROUTE 1 · STEP 4

Paste the workflow into your notebook

SETUP 2 · NOTEBOOK INSTRUCTIONS · PROMPT PACK 2

This notebook is my field coaching chief of staff, using Bracco's PAUSE framework: objective about evidence, supportive in feedback. Use my AI Operating Manual for my standards and voice, the PAUSE slides for what good looks like, the Field Coaching Playbook for the five moments and Prompts 1 to 8, and the coaching log for each rep's history. At the start of a coaching session, interview me once, one question at a time, to build the session context in the Playbook, and ask me to attach my notes and last FCR. Play it back and wait for my OK. After that, ask only for what is new and missing. Work out my moment from what I say and attach, confirm it in one line, or ask once where I am in my field day. When a prompt uses my notes or files, end with a source check. Never invent facts or evaluate the employee. Initials only. I own the coaching judgment and the final FCR.

Try these

"Start a coaching session for my field day with [initials]." It interviews you once, then runs Prompt 1.

"Which agreed actions and follow-up checkpoints are still open across my reps?"

"Across my team, which development priorities keep coming up in my FCRs?"

ROUTE 1 · STEP 5

Your first session: what you should see

You: "Start a coaching session for my field day with T.M."

Copilot: Question 1 of up to 5: how long has T.M. been in role, and which accounts are you visiting?

You: 8 months. Two community hospital radiology departments, Thursday.

Copilot: Please attach T.M.'s last FCR and your coaching log entry with /. … Here's what I have, in three lines. Is this right?

You: Yes.

Copilot: You're before the field day, so I'll run Prompt 1: your prep guide. … Spec check · Source check

If it doesn't, say

It drafts without asking
"Interview me first, one question at a time."

It picks the wrong prompt
"Run Prompt 2."

No checks at the end
"End with a spec check and a source check."

It adds a detail you didn't give it
"Use only what I gave you. Flag the gap."

THE COACHING LOG

Its memory is your log

Field	What to write
Date and focus	Field day, one-on-one or joint visit, and the coaching focus
Rep	Initials only
Account type	The type of account, never the customer's name
What I observed	What the rep said and did, as close to word for word as you can
Strengths	One or two, each with the evidence (Affirm)
Priorities	One or two development areas, and the rep's self-assessment (Understand, Specify)
Agreed action	Owner, action and timing (Embed)
Checkpoint	My support and the next follow-up date

Before you start one: a coaching log is a record about employees. Confirm with HR where it can be kept and what it can say.

1 · Title and purpose
What it's for, in one sentence

2 · Who it serves
You, your team and how you lead

4 · How it works

7 · Never does

9 · Success looks like

Starting boundaries: never invents facts, quotes or intent · never diagnoses personality, emotion or motivation · no employment, pay or disciplinary decisions · drafts only, you own the FCR · initials only.

ROUTE 2 · THE SPEC INTERVIEW

Let Copilot interview you for the spec

Copy Setup 3 from Prompt Pack 2

CONTEXT

I lead a field sales team at Bracco Diagnostics. Using / My AI Operating Manual. I'm building a Copilot agent to be my coaching chief of staff, built on Bracco's PAUSE model and our Field Coaching Report. I want a clear job description for it first.

ROLE

An experienced sales leader and AI agent designer for regulated commercial teams.

ACTION

Write my agent spec in nine parts: title and purpose, who it serves, jobs to be done, how it works, what it knows, output standards, never does, hands back when, success looks like.

Then turn it into agent instructions under 8,000 characters, a name under 30 characters, a description and four starter prompts.

FORMAT · TONE

A Word document titled "Agent Spec." Plain and specific.

INTERVIEW ME

One question at a time, two at most per part. Skip what my manual already answers. Push for examples, and spend the most time on boundaries.

ROUTE 2 · IN AGENT BUILDER

Paste your spec into eight fields

#	Step	Where and what	Limit
1	Open	Microsoft 365 Copilot app › Create agent
2	Configure tab	Use Configure so you can paste your spec
3	Name	From your spec	30 characters
4	Description	From your spec	1,000 characters
5	Instructions	From your spec	8,000 characters
6	Knowledge	Your manual, PAUSE slides, Field Coaching Playbook and coaching log	20 sources
7	Starter prompts	Your four jobs
8	Test, then Create	Test in the right-hand pane. Create keeps it private to you.

ROUTE 2 · STEP 7

Four starter prompts across PAUSE

PROMPT 1 · PREPARE

Prep my field day

"Build my one-page PAUSE prep guide for my field day with [initials]: behaviors to observe, strengths to look for, questions and evidence to capture."

PROMPTS 2 AND 3 · UNDERSTAND

Sort my notes

"Separate my field notes into observations, assumptions and facts to verify, then give me six self-assessment questions."

PROMPT 6 · EMBED

Draft my FCR

"Draft my Field Coaching Report from my validated notes. Ask for anything missing, and flag anything that lacks evidence."

PROMPT 8 · EMBED

Build my embed plan

"Create a 30-day embed plan from the agreed action with [initials], and list my open checkpoints across the team."

ROUTE 2 · ITS FIRST 90 DAYS, IN 10 MINUTES

Test it before you trust it

Run Draft my FCR (Prompt 6) on the T.M. ride-along (Prompt Pack 1, Prompt 2 filled-in example). Check it against the FCR quality check:

- Based on direct observation, not assumptions?
- One or two strengths, one or two priorities?
- Behavior linked to customer or business impact?
- Room for the rep to self-assess?
- Next steps specific, owned and time-bound?
- A chance to practice and observe again?

NOW TRY TO BREAK A RULE

"Is T.M. a low performer? Rate him from 1 to 5."

A well-built agent declines to evaluate the employee and hands the judgment back to you. If it doesn't, tighten the Never does section and test again.

SET EXPECTATIONS

What your agent can and can't do today

It can	It can't, yet
Prepare you the moment you ask	Work on its own or follow up unprompted
Follow your coaching method every time	Update your coaching log for you
Read your manual, PAUSE slides, Playbook and log	Send anything to anyone
Draft in your voice, within your boundaries	Know what isn't in its knowledge

THE HABIT

Your chief of staff is only as current as your log

Prepare
Your agent builds the prep guide

→

Observe
Capture facts, not conclusions

→

Coach
You lead it, in person

→

Embed
FCR, embed plan, checkpoint

Your first commitment: use your agent before and after your next field day, and run that FCR through the quality check before you submit it.
